The Madrid Palace of Congresses Auditorium was the scene for the presentation of this Harambee initiative aimed at obtaining bursaries for the training of young

African girls in catering skills within their country and so to attain financial independence and earn a living.

Present at the event from Kenya were Jackie Otieno, Director of Kimlea Technical Training Centre and Lynda Kasina, Director of Kibondeni College. Jackie moved the audience as she told them how the lives of the girls they had sponsored last year have changed. They are now studying and have a future, whereas before they were tea-pickers with no other possibilities.

Lynda Kasina thanked the chefs for sponsoring girls from Waruku this year. They will be able to fulfil their dream of becoming chefs thanks to the help of the Spanish chefs.
