

opusdei.org

8 September: "Our Lady's Nativity"

For the feast of the birth of our Lady on September 8, here is a poem by Robert Southwell, who died a martyr for the faith in 1595.

09/07/2021

Our Lady's Nativitye

Joye in the risinge of our orient starr,

That shall bringe forth the Sunne
that lent her light;

Joy in the peace that shall conclude
our warr,

And soone rebate the edge of Satan's
spight;

Load-starr of all engolfd in worldly
waves,

The card and compasse that from shipwracke saves.

The patriark and prophettes were the floures

Which Tyme by course of ages did distill,

And culld into this little cloude the shoures

Whose gracious droppes the world with joy shall fill;

Whose moysture suppleth every
soule with grace,

And bringeth life to Adam's dyinge race.

For God, on Earth, she is the royall
throne,

The chosen cloth to make His mortall
weede;

The quarry to cutt out our Cornerstone,

Soyle full of fruite, yet free from mortall seede;

For heavenly floure she is the Jesse rodd

The childe of man, the parent of God.

by Robert Southwell S.J.
(1560-1595)

Life of Mary (II): Birth of our Lady

Birth of our Lady: Magisterium,
Saints, Poets

.....

pdf | document generated
automatically from https://opusdei.org/en-nz/article/our-lady-s-nativity/ (07/27/2025)