

She Never Lets You Down

I recently told Dora that if she could get me this one favor, I would write up all the other ones that she's gotten for me as well. Since Dora never lets me down, here I am following suit.

12/30/2015

I recently told Dora that if she could get me this one favor, I would write up all the other ones that she's gotten for me as well. Since Dora never lets me down, here I am following suit.

One day I lost one of my pearls and I was looking everywhere for it. I happened to be doing a service project, chaperoning 25 girls, and when we were leaving I asked them if anyone had by chance seen one of my pearls. One of them responded, "Oh yeah! I picked one up when I was cleaning and I meant to ask if it belonged to anyone, but I put in the pocket of my pants and then forgot about it." So thanks, Dora, for getting my pearl back to me.

I live in Cameroon and finding candles to put in a chapel is not that easy. I asked Dora to help me with this, and not only did I find a store that sold the right kind of candles, I also found the perfect decorations for a birthday cake I needed to make.

Another day, I was short on time and I asked Dora to help me be able to attend to everything I needed to do. Everything worked out fine, so much so that the boy that helps me do the grocery shopping asked me why I had so much luck, and I told him that I have a friend in Heaven that never lets me down and who helps me a lot.

I put a Dora prayer card that contains a relic inside the freezer in hopes that it could be fixed, because it's not easy to find good technicians here. Sure enough, we managed to find a good and cheap technician to successfully do the job.

I prayed a novena to Dora with a friend of mine who hoped to have children but faced some complications that made it difficult for her to get pregnant. Last year, she and her husband finally became parents when she gave birth to their first son.

So many other favors to write, but I would never finish. I won't end however without making it clear that

Dora never fails when you ask her,
and she'll even do two favors in one!

M.M. (Cameroon)

.....

pdf | document generated
automatically from [https://opusdei.org/
en-nz/article/she-never-lets-you-down/](https://opusdei.org/en-nz/article/she-never-lets-you-down/) (12/11/2025)