

"There are poor who are really rich"

Don't forget it: he has most who needs least. Don't create needs for yourself. (The Way, 630)

June 2

Detach yourself from the goods of the world. Love and practise poverty of spirit: be content with what enables you to live a simple and sober life. Otherwise, you will never be an apostle. (The Way, 631)

Rather than in not having, true poverty consists in being detached,

in voluntarily renouncing one's dominion over things. That is why
there are poor who are really rich.
And vice-versa. (The Way, 632)

You haven't got the spirit of poverty
if, when you are able to choose in such a way that your choice is not noticed, you do not select for yourself
what is worst. (The Way, 635)
