I read the book "Dora del Hoyo: A Lighted Lamp" almost in one-sitting on January 11, 2013, after someone lent it to me. At the time, one of my daughters was suffering a lot of pain due to a kidney stone. She was home alone with her one-month old baby; her husband and three older kids had gone on vacation, since they had already bought the tickets ahead of time.

In the book I had read that a woman had prayed to Dora's intercession asking to be cured "immediately" of the same problem my daughter was having... and her pain had disappeared. So I also prayed with a lot of faith the prayercard, asking for the same thing. That same day, my daughter's pain went away.

I don't think this was a coincidence, especially because I had only been given the book that day. Thanks Dora!
