Bishop Javier Echevarría was discharged today from the University of Navarra Hospital in Pamplona, Spain. He is making very good progress in recovering from the surgery on his spinal column that took place on November 10.

Following the doctors' recommendation, he plans to spend several weeks in Pamplona regaining his strength.

The Prelate would like to once again express his gratitude for the affection and prayers of so many people. On leaving the University of Navarra Hospital, Bishop Echevarría thanked the staff for the care he has received during the past 8 days and assured them of his prayers for all their efforts in the Hospital.
